The person named overleaf has participated in voluntary work with Winged Fellowship Trust and this certificate is issued in sincere appreciation of the work carried out.

Who are Winged Fellowship Trust?

Winged Fellowship Trust gives visually impaired and disabled people a real chance of holidays, provides vital breaks for carers and inspirational opportunities for volunteers.

What does volunteer work with Winged Fellowship Trust involve?

Volunteers' main role is providing support for guests with a range of disabilities to help them enjoy their holidays in a dignified and independent manner.

Volunteers also help in a variety of other ways, including fundraising, in shops, gardens and administrative support.

The involvement of volunteers enables Winged Fellowship Trust to extend the range of services and activities offered while, at the same time, helping to contain the cost of the service. The commitment and enthusiasm of volunteers is a real asset to the work of the Trust.

What skills and experiences can volunteers develop?

Whilst volunteering with Winged Fellowship Trust there are many opportunities to learn new skills such as leadership and team working and to improve confidence, use of initiative and communication skills. Volunteers will also gain greater disability awareness and receive guidance on health and safety issues.
